WOODWARD

the Platform

Classic Meets Modern

7300 Woodward sits at the prominent intersection of Woodward Avenue and Grand Boulevard where historic districts and emerging neighborhoods meet minutes from Downtown Detroit.

Significant capital improvements are underway to modernize the building while honoring its historic Art Deco design and classic 20th century architecture.

Improvements Underway

A Modern Art Deco Refresh

Murals inspired by the building's Albert Kahn-designed arcade will adorn the east and north facades, heightening the building's profile along Woodward and Grand Blvd.

Other exterior enhancements include a dark metal band with geometric cutouts wrapping the southwest corner of the building, as well as all new entrances, canopies and building signage.

The streetscape will also be freshened with new concrete, plantings and benches.

The exterior enhancements at 7300 Woodward create greater visibility and bring renewed energy to the building.

Improvements Underway

Bringing modern aesthetics and enhanced conveniences for today's businesses.

An improved visitor and employee experience await at 7300 Woodward.

Upon entering the building guests will witness the history and splendor of the Albert Kahn-designed arcade. The painted domed ceiling, art deco lights, brass storefronts and marble floors are being carefully repainted, polished and refreshed.

Journeying through the arcade, guests will learn about the building's history through new Art Deco-styled graphics. A new reception area and tenant directory further enhance the experience.

Three new elevators are being installed to ensure prompt service throughout the building. Behind the scenes, new heating and cooling equipment is being installed to better manage temperature control and improve efficiency.

A Notable Landmark

7300 Woodward enjoys prominent visibility along Woodward Avenue and Grand Boulevard where New Center, North End and Milwaukee Junction converge.

Marking the gateway to Detroit's urban core, 7300 Woodward is home to many businesses and community-serving organizations and surrounded by strong institutional neighbors like Henry Ford Health, College for Creative Studies, Wayne State University, and numerous foundations.

In recent years, food and beverage establishments have multiplied along Woodward and a few blocks east in Milwaukee Junction.

The site provides exceptional access by car, bus, light rail, bicycle and scooter in a walkable neighborhood. Several area expressways are nearby and parking is abundant.
